

I am strongly OPPOSED to amending current FCC rules in order to allow further media consolidation. There is already too little choice in media, and the interests of the American public are not being served.